

Who we are

The ASBP is an independent, alliance of organisations that share a common goal of increasing the quality, health and sustainability of the built environment through the identification, development and specification of better products and systems.

Membership is available to organisations motivated to join us in progressing this agenda through a focus on our six core themes, which are:

- Improved technical performance
- Reduced whole-life carbon
- Increased health and well-being
- Increased resource efficiency
- Increased social value
- An ethical and transparent approach

We seek to champion best practice and learning through a positive communication programme and we will highlight members achievements where appropriate. We welcome applications from those organisations that share our passion for change.
